

Lecturer in Constitutional Law

Neapolis University Pafos announces one academic position at the rank of Lecturer in Cypriot and European Constitutional Law.

The Law Department offers graduate and postgraduate programs that provide up-to-date knowledge in many areas of law, such as Constitutional Law (civil liberties, human rights in national and international level, European and comparative constitutional Law, judicial review of legislation).

To support our undergraduate teaching programs in the aforementioned disciplines and to strengthen further our research profile, we are now seeking to recruit a Lecturer in Cypriote and European Constitutional Law. Candidates should have a PhD in Constitutional Law. Teaching or research experience at a University is desirable. Candidates should also have a relevant record of research and publications in the area of Law.

The post holder will play a substantial role in developing the subject area and the ideal candidate will be expected to provide substantial academic and research skills.

An internationally competitive remuneration package is offered according to qualifications and experience.
