Dr. Konstantinos Zagoris received the Diploma in Electrical and Computer Engineering in 2003 from Democritus University of Thrace, Greece and his PhD on Content and Metadata Based Image Document Retrieval from the same university in 2010. He worked as Research Assistant at Salford University in 2011 and then, as post-doc researcher at the Institute of Informatics & Telecommunications (I.I.T.), «Demokritos». He is currently working as Post-Doc Researcher at the Democritus University of Thrace.

He is author of more than 40 publications in journals and international conference proceedings and has participated in several research programs funded by the Hellenic Republic or European community. His research interests include document, image and multimodal retrieval, colour image processing and analysis, document analysis, pattern recognition. He is a member of the Technical Chamber of Greece.
