

Visiting or Full-Time Lecturer Position

The Neapolis University Department of Real Estate at the School of Architecture, Land & Environmental Sciences announces a visiting or full-time (depending on qualifications) Lecturer position in Real Estate Marketing

The Department of Real Estate at Neapolis University offers an internationally recognised MSc in Real Estate and a Bachelor in Real Estate Valuation and Development recognised by ETEK. The Department has an opening for a visiting or full-time Lecturer to undertake the teaching of courses in real estate marketing, and, depending on qualifications, other undergraduate and graduate courses in the programmes offered by the Department.

The position requires a Ph.D. degree with specialization in real estate marketing. Candidates are also required to be fluent in both English Greek. Prior teaching experience and research will be considered as a plus.

How to apply

If you consider that you meet the selection criteria, please send your application at george.koutsos@nup.ac.cy. Applications must consist of the following:

- Application form (download here)
- A curriculum Vitae
- A covering letter

All applications must be received by August 28th, 2018.