

Director of the Counseling Center for Research and Psychological Services (SKEPSI) at Neapolis University of Pafos

Recent Color Photo

Address: 2 Danaes Avenue

Telephone: +35726843364

Email: andri.christodoulou@nup.ac.cy

A. Briefly describe (10 lines) your studies and experience.

Dr. Andri Christodoulou is the Director of the Counseling Center for Research and Psychological Services (SKEPSI) and a Lecturer in Clinical Psychology in the graduate Counseling Psychology program at Neapolis University of Pafos (NUP). She is also a practicing Registered Clinical Psychologist in the Register of Professional Psychologists in Cyprus, working with adults and children (primarily adolescents). She holds a Doctorate degree in Clinical-Child Psychology and a Master's degree in School Psychology from Pace University, and a Master's degree in Experimental Psychology from the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University in New York, USA. She has worked as a Lecturer at Pace University and Long Island University. She has also worked at various psychotherapeutic centers for children and adolescents in New York and was the Clinical Coordinator at a Residential Treatment Facility for adolescents. She has acted as a consultant at the Private American School of Pafos and is currently a member and advisor of the Dr. Yiota Demetriou, Dancing Queen Foundation, which aims to provide psychological and other services to children and adolescents. Dr. Andri Christodoulou is a member of the Cyprus Psychologists Association and the American Psychological Association.

B. Research Interests

Her interests include the study of family dynamics, ego development, trauma, defense structure, attachment, and working alliance as seen by the patient and therapist. Other interests include: severe psychopathology in adults and children; child and adolescent psychotherapy; trauma in childhood; thought disorder; cognitive weaknesses in psychopathology.

C. Publications

N/A

