Dr Konstantinos Zagoris received the Diploma in Electrical and Computer Engineering in 2003 from Democritus University of Thrace, Greece and his PhD on Content and Metadata Based Image Document Retrieval from the same university in 2010. He worked as Research Assistant at Salford University in 2011, as a postdoc researcher at the Institute of Informatics & Telecommunications (I.I.T.), «Demokritos» and as a senior postdoc researcher at Electrical and Computer Engineering, Democritus University of Thrace. He is currently working as Lecturer at Neapolis University, Pafos at the Department of Computer Science. He is an author of more than 40 publications in journals and international conference proceedings and has participated in several research programs funded by the Hellenic Republic or European community.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

His research interests include document, image and multimodal retrieval, colour image processing and analysis, document analysis, pattern recognition.
