JOB DESCRIPTION

We seek a talented and highly motivated individual with a high-level academic expertise and track record in research on Accounting. The objective of this position is to lead and carry out scientific and development processes in the field of Accounting. The appointee will be required to conduct research in the field of accounting as well as related fields, collaborate with other research teams both nationally and internationally, stimulate research activities at NUP, and apply for funding from national and international sources. The suitable candidate would continuously work on the expansion of national and international networks involving both academics and practitioners. The candidate is also expected to teach and supervise in all levels and mentor early stage researchers.

The Department offers

- A dynamic and international work environment;
- Opportunities for personal and professional development;
- A wide network for multidisciplinary cooperation;
- Promotes research and provides resources for active scholars;
- Access to relevant infrastructure;
- Competitive salary depending on the candidate's qualification and performance.

Qualifications & Requirements

- PhD degree in the relevant field;
- Strong publication record that proves the ability for high quality and relevant research in the area of Accounting and related fields;
- Experience in leading research groups and coordination of research activities;
- Experience in teaching and supervising at all levels (BSc, MSc level);
- Active participation in relevant international networks;
- Strong interpersonal skills and ability to work independently;
- Fluent written and oral communication skills in Greek and English;
- Membership of one or more accounting professional bodies will be considered an advantage.
- Professional experience is preferred, preferably in the areas of auditing, financial reporting and forensic accounting.

Applicants are expected to have demonstrated a high level of academic competence, have experience of leading academic research, good teaching skills and extensive teaching experience, as well as strong international visibility within the academic community. In addition, experience of doctoral education, applying for external funding, international research co-operation and academic expert assignments, as well as experience of participation in administrative tasks within an academic department, faculty or university are expected.

The following additional qualifications are also considered as merits: experience of responsibility for a degree programme, a subject, department, faculty or university, successfully raising external research funds, experience in leading the development of teaching, and pedagogical education.

We offer a stimulating research environment, including a research seminar series, a PhD program, generous research funding, and all the opportunities of a dynamic private University.

The candidate is expected to show evidence of strong teaching skills and/or professional experience and a commitment to research excellence. He/she will teach at undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate levels and also contribute to the design and development of the Department's programs.
