ACCESS TO THE LIBRARY PAGE:

Go to the University website at www.nup.ac.cy

On the top left of the page, click on the «LIBRARY» option. You will be redirected to the library's page where you can access all available resources and services.

HOW TO SEARCH FOR MATERIAL?

In the search field, type the keyword related to your topic.
Then, click on «Search» to view the results.

The screenshot displays the library website's search page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'MOODLE LOGIN', 'LIBRARY', and 'PARTNERS', along with social media icons and a language selector set to 'EN'. Below this is a dark blue header with the university logo and navigation links: 'THE UNIVERSITY', 'STUDY AT NUP', 'OUR CAMPUS', 'STUDY IN CYPRUS', 'RESEARCH', and 'GET IN TOUCH'. The main banner features the word 'LIBRARY' in large blue letters over a background image of a library. On the left, a 'Library' sidebar menu is expanded, showing categories like 'Library Information' and 'Collection / Discovery Tools'. The 'Learning Resources' section is highlighted with a light blue background and contains a search box titled 'Discovery Service for Neapolis University Pafos'. A red arrow labeled '1' points to the search input field, and another red arrow labeled '2' points to the 'SEARCH' button. Below the search box are radio buttons for 'Keyword', 'Title', and 'Author', and checkboxes for 'Full Text', 'Peer Reviewed', and 'Available in Library Collection'. At the bottom of the search area, a welcome message reads: 'Welcome to the website of the Library of Neapolis University Pafos.'

Art activities for staff in healthcare institutions

ABSTRACT
Arts and arts-based methods are increasingly used in professional development. This study involved two artists facilitating art activities for 21 staff members from three care institutions in Finland: a nursing home, a day-care centre for individuals with dementia and an organization that supports individuals facing challenging life situations (e.g. unemployment or the need to relearn everyday skills). The primary objective was to enhance work satisfaction and well-being among staff members. Initially, the staff members displayed scepticism towards art activities, but their attitudes became more positive as they engaged in the artistic process. Interviews revealed that the activities positively impacted group spirit, improved individual well-being and inspired the staff to explore new methods in their professional roles. Many participants suggested that art activities could be structured

ACCESS OPTIONS (1) : OPTION «ONLINE FULL TEXT»

With the «Online full text» option, the article's text will appear as shown on the following page

The screenshot displays a web browser interface for an academic article. The browser's address bar shows the URL "Art activities for staff in healthcare institutions." and includes a "Download" button. A warning banner at the top states: "This content may contain URLs/links that would redirect you to a non-EBSCO site. EBSCO does not endorse the accuracy or accessibility of these sites, nor of the content therein." The article title is "Art activities for staff in healthcare institutions." The authors are listed as "Published in: International Journal of Education through Art, Jun2024, Art & Architecture Complete" and "By: Oinas, Niina; Huhmarniemi, Maria". The abstract text reads: "Arts and arts-based methods are increasingly used in professional development. This study involved two artists facilitating art activities for 21 staff members from three care institutions in Finland: a nursing home, a day-care centre for individuals with dementia and an organization that supports individuals facing challenging life situations (e.g. unemployment or the need to relearn everyday skills). The primary objective was to enhance work satisfaction and well-being among staff members. Initially, the staff members displayed scepticism towards art activities, but their attitudes became more positive as they engaged in the artistic process. Interviews revealed that the activities positively impacted group spirit, improved individual well-being and inspired the staff to explore new methods in their professional roles. Many participants suggested that art activities could be structured into regular work supervision sessions in their workplaces. The findings highlight the importance of further investigating the benefits of having artists and artistic activities within care organizations." The keywords are "professional development; work supervision; community arts; arts-based methods; art-based action research; artistic interventions". The "Introduction" section begins with "Arts and arts-based activities have increasingly gained recognition for their positive impact on health and well-being. Numerous studies have shown the significant benefits for mental health, a sense of belonging and physical health ([3]; [6]; [39]). The power of art lies in the freedom it grants through a creative experience. It can positively impact many aspects of society, including culture, society, education, economics and health ([5]).". A table of contents sidebar on the right lists sections: Introduction, Literature review, Artistic interventions in organizations, Artistic interventions in care institutions, Work counselling and well-being, ABAR and the 'WorkArt' project, The workshops, Participation and results, Arts-based activity outcomes, Discussion, Conclusion, Suggested Citation, Footnotes, and References. A small logo is visible in the bottom right corner of the article content area.

Warning Concerning Copyright Restrictions

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is for the private study, scholarship, or research of an individual user, and that the fee of $0.10 per copy plus the fee for handling is paid directly to the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923. This institution reserves the right to refuse a copying order if, in its judgement, fulfillment of the order would result in copyright infringement.
